A motion was made to allow the Committee on Elections a clerk, and

Mr. CARROLL, of N. York addressed the House, amidst repeated interruptions, upon this question.

The House adjourned.

The Tariff.—Mr. RHEIT introduced a resolution instructing the committee of ways and means to report a bill reducing all duties on imports over thirty per cent. ad valorem to that amount; and providing for a final reduction within two years, to twenty per cent. ad valorem, with such discriminations below this maximum as purposes of revenue shall require.

The question being taken on this resolution it was decided in the negative by a vote of 112 to 67, J. B. Hunt voting for and Messrs. Lyon and McClelland against its passage.

Mr. Black, of Georgia, offered a resolution instructing the committee of ways and means to report a bill as soon as practicable, revising the present tariff, and imposing duties on imports on the principle of revenue only.

The question being taken on this resolution it was decided in the negative as follows:—Yea 83, Nays 84, Messrs. J. B. Hunt and Lyon voting for and McClelland against it.

Though these rules do not give the particular views of our representatives on this growing question, they are sufficiently explicit on the main point, and warrant us in putting them down, as opposed to any thing favoring the policy of fostering or protecting our own labor, or manufacturing industry. On this subject they are the true disciples of Gov. Barry. Their motto is "free trade and no protection." We are thankful however that their subservience to British policy in this matter is not accompanied with the power to give effect, to their anti-American principles. From the expression already given, we feel secure in the enjoyment of the safety of protection, afforded by the present tariff, under which our condition is evidently improving. And we trust that before the influence of British Gold, (furnished by the corn law clubs of England for the purchase of newspaper presses and the further dissemination of their "free trade" doctrine,) shall be so extensively felt to be counteracted, the American people will have learned, by experience, the advantages and benefits of looking to their own energies and their own national resources for the means of independence, instead of allowing themselves and their country to be impoverished by this overreaching policy of England, seconded by a set of contemptible party leaders to nullification, who to secure the ascendancy of their party are ever ready to barter away the interests of the country.

MARRIED.—On Monday, 15th instant, by the Rev. Mr. WEAD, CHARLES J. MILES, of Cleveland, Ohio, to EMILIA A. LAWRENCE, of this place.

AN ORDINANCE Regulating the Disposition of the lots, and general management of the Ypsilanti Cemetery.

Be it ordained by the common Council of the Village of Ypsilanti:—

1st That the burial ground on the east side of the Huron River, belonging to said village, shall be denominated the Ypsilanti Cemetery.

2d That the first tier of lots on the west side of said Cemetery as recently surveyed, staked and platted by Samuel Pettibone, under the direction of the common Council of said village, shall be set apart from the ground appropriated by this ordinance to burial places for the dead, and shall, together with the alley adjoining said first tier of lots on the east be added to the alley on the west side of said Cemetery; and the plat of said cemetery, now belonging to said village, and deposited with the recorder, shall be so altered, as to correspond with the alteration of said cemetery, required by this section; or a new plat obtained, which shall correspond with said cemetery, so altered as aforesaid.

3d The dead bodies which have been buried in said first tier of lots, shall be disinterred, under the direction of the common council, who shall have power in all cases, where any burials are now made, in such places in said cemetery, as will interfere with the platting, and the improvements thereof, as contemplated by this ordinance to direct a removal of such burials, to such lots in said cemetery, as to them shall seem proper. But nothing in this ordinance shall be construed to preclude any person or persons interested in such burial places, from removing under the direction of the sexton their own dead, or from purchasing, either at public or private sale, any lot or lots of said cemetery, for burial places for their dead; and for this purpose, the said common council shall direct, that such reasonable notice, as circumstances will permit, be given to any person or persons, who may be interested in such burial places, of the intention to remove the dead bodies thereof; and a like notice of the time and place of the first public sale of the lots of said cemetery, required by the provisions of this ordinance.

4th All the lots of said cemetery, being fourteen feet in width, by twenty-three feet in length, as staked on the ground, and laid out on the plat aforesaid, (excepting the first tier of lots set apart as aforesaid, to form part of the front alley,) shall be estimated by, or under the direction of the said common council, who shall fix a minimum price, upon each and every such lot; which price shall be laid, according to the value of the lots respectively, the various and probable circumstances of the citizens of said village, now and hereafter, and the nature and extent of the improvements, to be bestowed upon said cemetery, as contemplated by this ordinance.

5th The lots of said cemetery, so priced as aforesaid, (reserving therefrom such lots as are already occupied as burial places of the dead, where the dead bodies have been so buried, as not to require disinterment and removal under the provisions of this ordinance) shall, at such time or times, within the space of two months from the date of this ordinance, and at such time or times thereafter as the said common council shall deem proper, be offered for sale, at public auction, to be sold by the single lot, to the highest bidder respectively, for a sum not less than the minimum price of each lot so fixed as aforesaid. The public notices, and the mode of said sales, in all such particulars, as are not regulated by this ordinance, the number and selection of the lots, so to be offered for sale, the terms of payment, the re-selling of such lots as shall have been sold but the payment therefor, refused, shall be at the discretion or under the direction of the said common council.

6th The said common council shall have power at any time after the first public sale, required by the 3d section of this ordinance, to sell at private sale, any of the lots specified in said 3d section, which shall then remain unsold, for the prices, no more and no less, which shall have been respectively laid thereon as aforesaid. But all public sales shall be governed by the regulations imposed by the said 3d section of this ordinance.

7th All those lots, composing that portion of said cemetery, not included in the above specification, and lying south of the central alley of said cemetery, being seven feet in width by twenty three feet in length, shall be denominated the south free burial ground and shall be set apart for the use and free burial of the inhabitants of said village, and such transient persons and strangers as may from time to time require burial places in the cemetery of said village; and any person may apply to the sexton, hereafter mentioned, for the assignment of any lot in the said free burial ground, for the use of any family residing, now or hereafter, within the boundaries of the said village, as it existed in the year eighteen hundred and forty two, and the said sexton may, as the best interest, management, and good order of the said cemetery shall appear to him to require, grant or refuse to grant such assignment. But such refusal, shall not preclude any such person from applying for the assignment of another lot and so on, until a selection, approved by the sexton, shall be made, and any person feeling himself aggrieved, by any such refusal of said sexton, may apply to the said common council, who shall inquire into the premises, and in their best discretion, direct or refuse to direct the sexton, to enter the name of such person or family in the cemetery journal, hereinafter mentioned, against the number of the lot so selected.

8th All burials, and places of burial in said free burial ground, of persons unconnected with families residing within the boundaries of said village, as it existed in the year eighteen hundred and forty two, shall be under the direction of the sexton, and said sexton is hereby authorized in all cases where he shall deem it necessary and proper to direct such burials, and those of strangers and other transient persons, to be made on such lots as may have been already occupied in part, with the remains of like persons—or on such lots as may have been occupied in part, by families, who shall have removed, from within the boundaries of said village, as it existed in the year eighteen hundred and forty-two.

9th That portion of said cemetery, lying north of the central alley thereof, comprising all those lots measuring seven feet in width, by twenty three feet in length, shall be denominated the north free burial ground, and the said lots shall be numbered on the plat, belonging to said village—and set apart for the use and free burial of that portion of the citizens and inhabitants of said village, and strangers and other transient persons, who are of a black and mulatto color; and the regulations contained in the last two preceding sections, not inconsistent with this section, shall apply also to the north free burial ground, but nothing in this ordinance, shall be understood, to preclude any colored person or persons from purchasing on equal terms either at public or private sale, any of the lots of said cemetery.

10th Any person intending to bury in said cemetery, shall in all cases, notify the sexton of said intention, and request the sexton to see to the digging of the grave, for which and the superintendence of such burial, every such person shall be liable to pay to the sexton the sum of $1.25 cents; and any person or persons violating the above provisions of this section shall pay a forfeit, to the said common council the sum of 10 dollars. Provided that any person wishing to bury in the free burial ground, who shall pay to the sexton the sum of 50 cents for superintending such burial, have the privilege, under the direction of the sexton, to dig, himself, or procure any other person, to dig any such grave. Any person, who shall purchase any lot of said cemetery, of another person, shall present some satisfactory evidence of such purchase, to the sexton, who shall enter the name of such purchaser or such other name, as the said purchaser shall direct, in the cemetery journal, opposite the number of such lot.

11th The said common council shall, on or before the first public sale required by the 3d section of this ordinance, cause to be procured a Book, to be denominated the cemetery journal, and deposited with the said sexton—the numbers of all the lots of the said cemetery as laid out on the said present plat thereof, on such other plat as the said common council shall obtain, and the minimum prices of such lots respectively, so far as such prices shall have been fixed as aforesaid, shall be entered on the margin of the leaves of said journal, until all the numbers and prices of said lots, shall have been entered.

12th The said cemetery shall be used exclusively as a place for the burial of the dead, and for no other purpose, except for those purposes properly connected, with the burial of the dead—and subject to such ordinances, as may from time to time be made, by the said common council, for the general regulation of said cemetery, and improvement of the same, and the restrictions they may impose upon said lots, as to the manner in which they may be improved—but nothing in any such ordinances or regulations shall defeat the Fee, conveyed by the said common council, to purchasers, by the Deed, hereinafter mentioned.

13th In every case of sale, whether public or private, of any of the lots of said cemetery, a deed, shall, on request, and payment to the treasurer of said village, of the sum bid, or the price fixed, as aforesaid, as the case may be, be executed to the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, by the said common council, signed by their President with the seal of said common council, affixed thereto—which deed shall be in the following form.
